

So let's look at the impact of introducing hybrid learning differentiated on the basis of the income of families. All learners were impacted by the pandemic and lost learning. But as you can see from this graph, it was the lowest income family children that were impacted the most.

